Our Mission:

To serve as stewards of our county's historical assets while implementing forward thinking and more inclusive collecting, educational, and community engagement policies. We strive to augment and strengthen our rich resources by seeking out stories and points of view that more accurately represent all aspects of our unique, diverse and multi-faceted county.

Lane County History Museum (LCHM) is operated under contract with the county to protect and preserve our community's extensive artifact and archival collections. Our artifact collection includes approximately 18,000 objects and our archives contain 900 manuscript collections, 160 blueprint collections, over 500 maps, an extensive oral history catalogue, and countless film and sound recordings. Our library contains hundreds of rare, one-of-a-kind books, reference materials, directories, and other valuable resources and our photograph collection includes over 550,000 images. Our ever-changing exhibits tell engaging stories that connect our visitors to the past and strive to create an immersive and tangible experience. We welcomed 2,700 in-person visitors in the fiscal year 2025-2026! Our research library receives hundreds of information requests from around the globe and our digital assets department processes hundreds of photo orders each year.

Our Vision: To be a trusted and vibrant county resource where all community members feel welcome to share their stories, listen to one another, and reflect on how our histories set us apart and bring us together.

Our Beginnings: We were founded in 1951 by local community leader and historian Cal Young. Mr. Young constructed our first building here at the Lane County Fairgrounds and served as the museum's first curator.

The Lane County History Museum has a new Public Historian/
Education & Outreach Coordinator!

LANE
COUNTY
HISTORY MUSEUM

Leah Murray has been the executive director of the Shelton McMurphey Johnson House Museum for the past 12 years and will be bringing her extensive knowledge of local history, experience developing educational programs and community engagement skills to LCHM. We are looking forward to great things!

Facilities

In January of 2026, the museum had a new roof installed over our library and archives. The job was performed by McKenzie Roofing, who gave us a generous non-profit discount. Because that area of the building houses our valuable (and most fragile) paper-based collections, we are breathing a sigh of relief that they will be protected for years to come. We also had a Reznor 150k Btu gas unit commercial heater installed in our downstairs collections area by Comfort Flow. This allowed us to discontinue use of our (circa 1959) boiler and radiant heating system, which was becoming dangerous and inefficient to use.

Strengthening Partnerships

The museum and historical society focused on strengthening and supporting our history partners over the past year. LCHM worked closely with the Junction City Historical Society to rebuild their board of directors and membership base, and aided their efforts to reopen both of their culturally significant house museums to the public after being closed to visitors for a number of years. The Mary E. Pitney House and the Dr. Normal L. Lee House have been reorganized and now have regular operating hours.

LCHM has been actively promoting the (free) use of our public reading room as a meeting and event venue for our community partners. We hosted a number of organizations this year, including Travel Lane County, the University of Oregon, the Fortnightly Club of Eugene, Delta Kappa Gamma, the Assistance League of Eugene, the Alvadore Ladies Club, Jefferson Westside Neighbors and the League of Women Voters.

History at the Hotel

LCHM was partnering with the University of Oregon to produce what was a joint "History Pub." This year, we decided to branch out on our own in order to have more control over the topics we presented and the speakers that could participate. We partnered with the Eugene Hotel, who graciously allowed us the use of their 2nd floor lounge to host our "History at the Hotel" historic talk/presentation series. Our attendees (which also included many hotel residents) appreciated the change of venue and the ability to attend an event inside the historic building. Our plan is to change locations each season, incorporating a new historic setting each cycle. This coming season (2026-2027) will take place at the W.O.W. Hall in Eugene.

Library & Archives

Over the past year, museum staff have spent countless hours reorganizing, cataloging, and rehousing LCHM's priceless and irreplaceable archival collections. We also acquired some very special items, including the archive of Oregon State Senator and Lane County Commissioner Pete Sorenson, the Christensen archive that documents the legacy of one of Eugene's most prolific rodeo and ranching families, a collection of circa 1951 photographic maps of Eugene and Springfield, and a circa 1890s Koch map that features early sections of Eugene's Fairmount neighborhood, Glenwood, and Springfield, donated by the Musgrove family.

In fiscal year 2025 – 2026, our research staff processed approximately 110 research requests, and provided research services to many of our local media outlets (broadcast and print), the University of Oregon, OPB/PBS, the State of Oregon, the Bureau of Land Management, and various authors, independent scholars, community members, and local business and property owners.

With the amazing help and dedication of our skilled volunteer base, we have significantly reduced what was a large backlog of uncatalogued and unprocessed documents, photographs, books, and manuscripts.

Artifacts

The Museum added some very special items to its object collection this year, including a collection of artifacts that were brought to Oregon with the Lost Wagon Train of 1853 by George Grant Gray and his family, donated by descendant Susan Moen, and a large collection of exterior details removed from the facades of both Villard and Deady Halls during extensive building renovations completed by the University of Oregon in Spring of 2026.

The museum is building lasting connections with representatives of Grand Ronde, the Chachalu Museum and Cultural Center, the Confederated Tribes of Coos, Lower Umpqua and Siuslaw Indians, the Klamath Tribes, the Confederated Tribes of Siletz Indians and various local, Lane County-based Native scholars to create our new, permanent 'Native Lane County' exhibit. Education guides are being created that will include curriculum-based resources for the county's school districts and visitor guides for everyone touring the exhibit.

The relationships we are forging will be an integral part of the design and content of the exhibit, which will be an organic entity, changing and evolving over time so that visitors can experience something new each time they visit.

LCHM hosted the Charro Attire Exhibition, a traveling Charrería exhibit from January to April, 2026. The exhibit highlights Mexican rodeo and ranching traditions, and their impact in the United States and Oregon. The opening event featured dancing, performances and roping demonstrations. We also hosted a hands-on leather working class taught by Antonio Huerta, the exhibit's creator and director of the local non-profit organization Comunidad y Herencia Cultural.

THE GUT

Eugene's Cruising Culture

The "gut" has changed from car scene to social scene. Cherry '57 Chev's and roadsters like this one have given way to old VW's and Mom's Pontiac.

outreach & education

LCHM connects with our community in a number of ways and contexts. From exhibits to education, and research to acquisitions, we are engaging with our community to meet their needs and fulfill our mission.

The Museum participated in a number of large community-based events this year, including a number of history-based walking tours and presentations, the Trails of Time Living History Festival, Eugene Pride, the opening of the Mary E. Pitney and Dr. Lee Houses in Junction City, the Oregon Genealogical Society's Family Fair and the Lane County Fair. We also gave a number of community and history-based educational talks and lectures throughout the county, including our very well attended History at the Hotel series which took place at the historic Eugene Hotel.

The museum's history partners include the Eugene Masonic Cemetery, the Shelton McMurphey Johnson House, the Eugene Pioneer Cemetery, the Cottage Grove Historical Society, the Cottage Grove Genealogical Society, the Cottage Grove Museum, the Cottage Grove Public Library, the Creswell Historical Museum, the Junction City Historical Society, the Siuslaw Pioneer Museum, the Springfield History Museum, the Springfield Public Library, the Oakridge Museum, the Oregon Genealogical Society, the Oregon Historical Society, the Eugene chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Comunidad y Herencia Cultural, Maude Kerns Art Center and the Applegate Museum in Veneta, Oregon.

LCHM hosted a number of exciting events this year that were free and open to the public--including a presentation by the American Rosie the Riveter Association, which featured four Lane County-based Rosies!

Guided School Tours, Presentations and Educational Resources

The Lane County Historical Society partners with the Assistance League of Eugene to provide elementary school-level Oregon history programs that are available for free to all of our county's school districts, home schoolers, charter schools and other independent education organizations throughout the year.

The focus of the Assistance League®'s Eugene Oregon Heritage Program is on pioneer life on the Oregon Trail and settlement at journey's end. Children get to explore a day in the life of a pioneer child including "chores" utilizing real period artifacts such as a butter churn, wool carders, slates and slate pencils. The second component features Native American history and perspectives, especially focused on the Kalapuya tribes of the Willamette Valley. Tour content is targeted toward 3rd through 5th graders.

Oregon Trail Trunk: Westward Migration (Oregon Trail and Early Settlement)

The Oregon Trail Traveling Trunk contains authentic and replicated items, as well as maps, illustrations, and photos which teachers and students are encouraged to handle and use as educational tools. An accompanying preview guide, lesson plan examples, and bibliography are also included. These can be checked out for a week at a time by any education-based organization.

University of Oregon and Lane Community College Offsite Classes

LCHM hosts a number of classes from the U of O and LCC that visit our facility to enhance their classroom experience and to take advantage of our research resources and exhibits, incorporating them into their learning pathways.

Online Resources

LCHM provides free downloadable slideshows designed for grades 3-5, that discuss the History of the Oregon Trail. Additional information and related activities are included in the presenter's notes, focusing on math, vocabulary, and writing. We also feature "Story Maps" on our website--interactive online versions of our physical exhibits. They include added information and details that can be accessed from anywhere.

Looking to the Future

We created a new position to fill the education and outreach gaps that exist in our programming, which focus heavily on elementary school age curriculum. Our new Pubic Historian/Education & Outreach Coordinator is currently creating new and engaging classes, presentations and events that target every age level in our community. We are excited about expanding our education possibilities in 2026 and beyond!

Visitation/Programs/Special Events

We are proud to say that our in-person visitation numbers have been steadily increasing each year! Between July of 2025 and June of 2026, the museum welcomed over 2,700 onsite visitors. We also engaged with thousands of people at our onsite and offsite history and education-based events, and hosted hundreds of students from elementary age to the university level.

INCOME

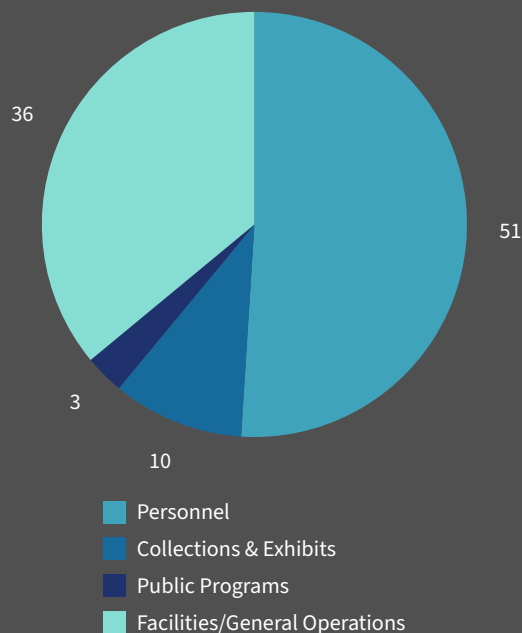

89% of the 2025-26 fiscal year's annual budget was funded by Lane County, 4% was funded by donations, 5% from investments, 1% from store sales, photograph orders and online purchases, and 1% from memberships. The museum continues to offer free admission, which has increased accessibility, especially for those who would otherwise be deterred by an admission charge.

EXPENSES

In the fiscal year 2025-26, personnel costs (wages, health care benefits, and a SIMPLE-IRA match) were approximately 51% of the organization's overall budget. Collections care and exhibit expenses totaled just over 10%. Programs, publications and outreach totaled 3%, and facilities and general operating costs were 36%.
